About me

I am a passionate and self-motivated individual with a keen interest in web development and training. I have a BA Degree in IT & Media design as well as IT & Education. My educational background coupled with my experience in a number of diverse environments means that I would be well placed to execute the role of junior front-end developer efficiently.

I have strong skills in designing and creating websites/applications using vanilla coding. I am hardworking and dedicated to ensuring the highest quality of all work, I have a pro-active approach and work collaboratively and diligently.

Currently searching for a developer role that will provide me the opportunity to learn, grow and contribute significantly.
